2. She only takes the orders, but she greets you with a smile.
 She remembers how you take your coffee, and she asks about your child.
 He signs the check and people notice, you know money speaks louder than words.
 But he smiles at a picture of a family, this time no one knows his work.

3. He lived his life for fun and pleasure, drinking, driving, raising hell.
 But he checked the box for "organ donor" and now someone else's heart beats well.
